The rate is different depending on the town you are filming in and how much you require for your shoot. And on some places you can get help (rent-free!), for instance when shooting in Stockholm. www.stofilm.com The permit doesn't give you right to close the street for the public. For this you need police permission and sometimes help during the shooting. Such help is paid for by the hour. From 400 — 1'000 SEK/hour/police.

Renting on location is normally around 10'000 SEK/day on simple locations such as homes. For renting commercial or cultural buildings its normal to pay from 10.000 SEK to... the sky is the limit... As a general rule, the smaller the town the cheaper locations.
